

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF INDIA
CIVIL ORIGINAL JURISDICTION

W. P.(CrI.) No(s). 515/2021

HARLAL

Petitioner(s)

VERSUS

THE STATE OF UTTAR PRADESH & ANR.

Respondent(s)

ORDER

The petitioner should move the jurisdictional High Court to challenge the order denying benefit of premature release/remission.

However, as the petitioner has undergone more than 33 years of actual imprisonment and approximately 45 years of imprisonment with remission, we direct that the petitioner would be released on interim bail/ furlough/ parole for a period of 30 days on the terms and conditions to be fixed by the Trial Court.

We also hope and trust that the petitioner would file Writ Petition within the period of 30 days and the writ petition would be taken up for consideration by the High Court as expeditiously as possible. It will be open to the High Court to extend the interim bail.

Recording the aforesaid, the Writ Petition is disposed of.

Pending application(s),if any, stand disposed of.
